ONWARD

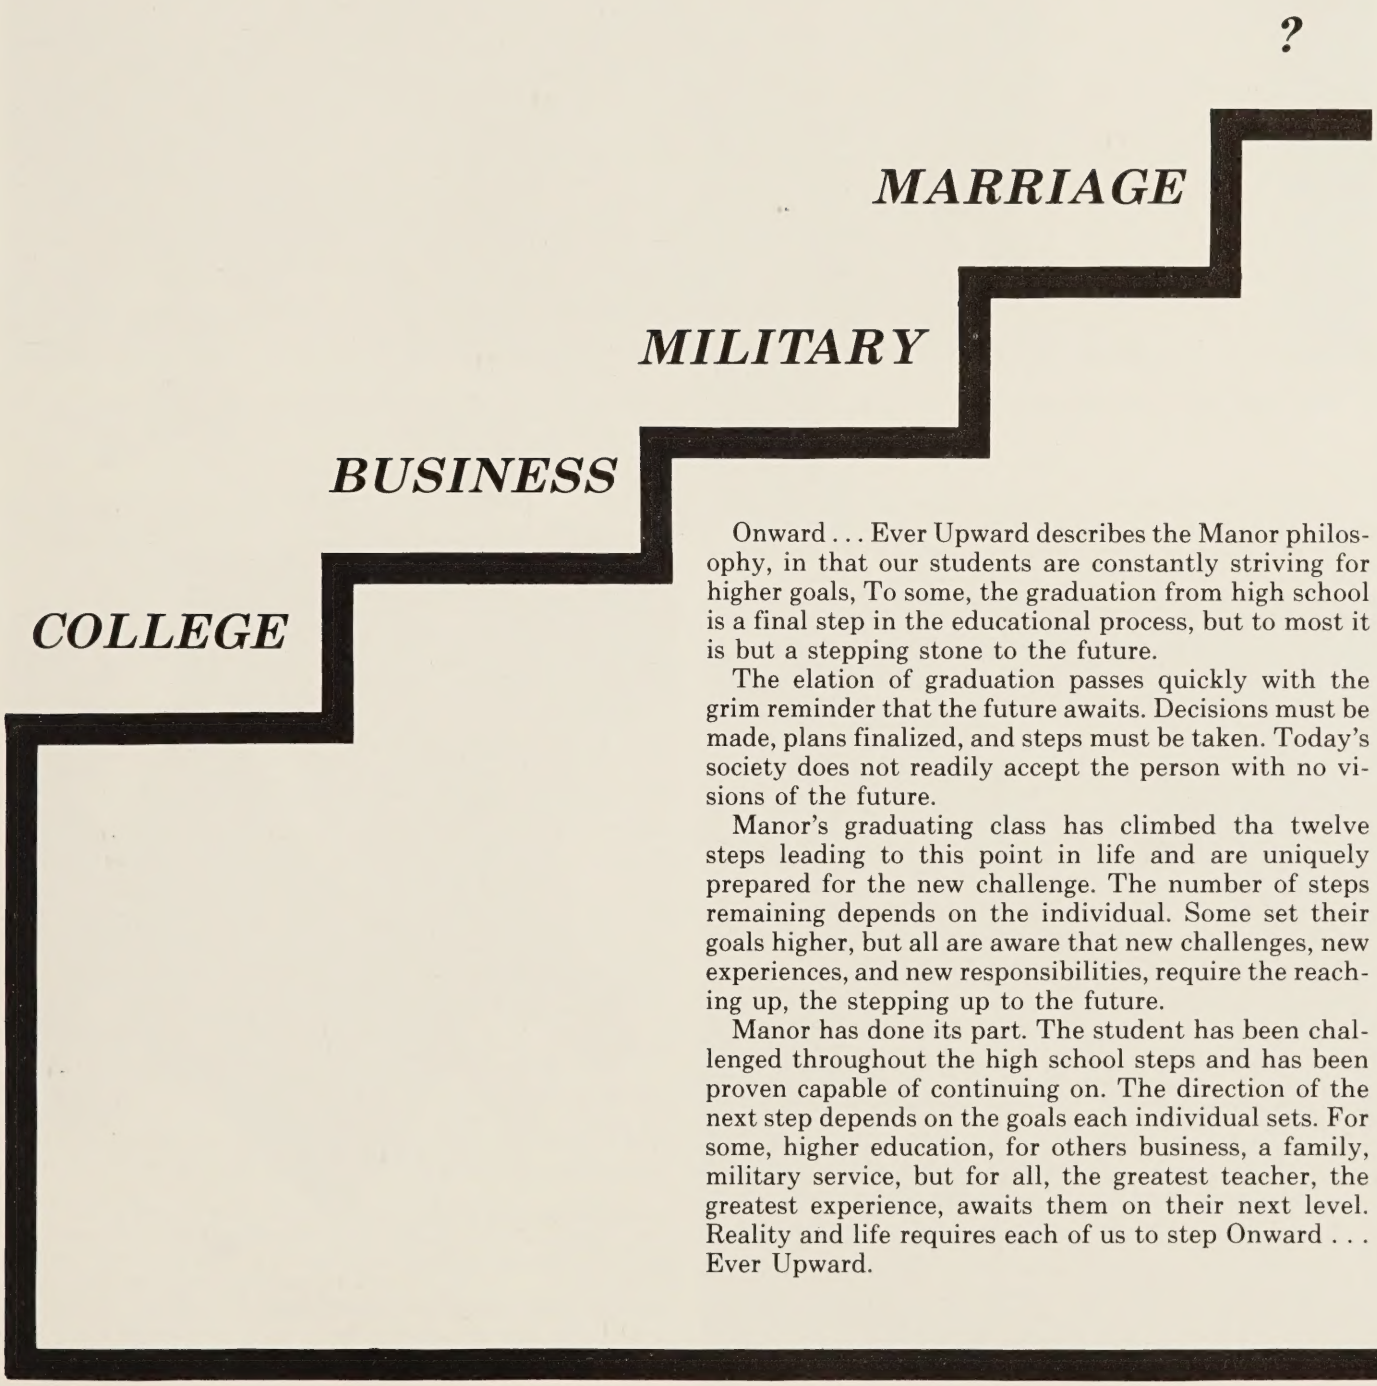
WHICH STEP IS NEXT?



Onward . . . Ever Upward describes the Manor philosophy, in that our students are constantly striving for higher goals, To some, the graduation from high school is a final step in the educational process, but to most it is but a stepping stone to the future.

The elation of graduation passes quickly with the grim reminder that the future awaits. Decisions must be made, plans finalized, and steps must be taken. Today's society does not readily accept the person with no visions of the future.

Manor's graduating class has climbed tha twelve steps leading to this point in life and are uniquely prepared for the new challenge. The number of steps remaining depends on the individual. Some set their goals higher, but all are aware that new challenges, new experiences, and new responsibilities, require the reaching up, the stepping up to the future.

Manor has done its part. The student has been challenged throughout the high school steps and has been proven capable of continuing on. The direction of the next step depends on the goals each individual sets. For some, higher education, for others business, a family, military service, but for all, the greatest teacher, the greatest experience, awaits them on their next level. Reality and life requires each of us to step Onward . . . Ever Upward.

The SGA is an indispensible, school wide organization which unites the student body, faculty, and staff creating a better Manor High

The SGA officers for 1980-81 were President: Sherri Pittman, Vice President: Jeff Brown, Secretary: Marian Tisdom, Treasurer: Mary Lindsay and Publicity Director: Bridnetta Watson. The SGA officers and the members of the executuve board (Cassandra Butts, David Spruill, Beatrice Wilson, Stephanie Wilks, Janet Rathbone, Sandranette Moses) and the homeroom representatives met to discuss school problems and school and community projects.

The SGA has in every aspect of the word, united the Mustangs and promoted school spirit through various functions. To start of the 180-81 school year, the SGA sponsored the Homecoming festivities in October by selecting and developing a creative theme—The Wild, Wild West. In order to intiate enthusiasm, the SGA sold Mustang pennants and megaphones to outwardly display the Mustang Pride.

Following Homecoming, the SGA began promoting the United Way Drive. It once again proved to be successful at Manor. A grant total of $401.66 was donated by the student body, faculty, and staff, which would be distributed among various health and welfare organizations such as the Red Cross and March of Dimes.

Oppertion Santa Claus and the Canned Food Drive were two projects which were appropriately planned for the Christmas season. Operation Santa Claus enabled under privileged children to enjoy a grand party with numerous gifts and an abundance of cake, cookies, candy and other goodies. The Canned Food Drive, which received 100% Participation from the "Mustangs" enabled many needy families to have a real Christmas dinner.

As an annual event, the Blood Drive was scheduled for the spring. The SGA anticipated the same enthusiasm and cooperation of everyone in making the Blood Drive a traditional success. Vampires take notice!

The year ended in June with the election of the 1981-82 officers. Without the guidance and supervision from sponser Mr. Cash, the SGA would not have been able to support and promote the annual events at Manor. Teh SGA officers and staff went beyond what was expected of them in order to keep Manor #1 in pride and spirit!

The SGA Executive Advisory Committee.

DEDICATION

The dedication of the Mustang Year book has become a Manor tradition. The yearbook is dedicated to a person worthy of recognition for their many services to the student body and faculty of Manor High School.

We feel this year's selection is a woman who will long be remembered not only for her devotion to Manor but for her quick smile and unusual personality. She has not only exhibited outstanding leadership qualities through her teaching but also in sponsering various school organizations. Our selection for the 1981 Mustang is Mrs. Judy Moore. Mrs. Moore, a native of Newport News is a graduate of East Carolina University at Greenville. She holds a BS degree and MA degree in education.

Mrs. Moore is chairman of the History Department for the seventh consecutive year. She teaches U.S. History and World History. She was sponser of the Junior Class for two years and was sponsor of the Junior Class for two years and was sponser of the 1981 Senior Class. She worked patiently and willingly with the Senior Class to help make their senior year a memorable one. Mrs. Moore has been a part of Manor since 1972 and has proven to be an asset to the student body.

Through her many talents, patience, loyalty and encouragement, the Seniors have been motivated to reach higher and stronger for their goals. As for the underclassmen; they have something to look forward to. Hopefully she will remain the indispensable senior advisor.

Her class offers the students a chance to express themselves in their own language—and opportunity rarely extended to the younger generations. We thank you for all the time, love and support you have shared with the students at Manor.

Therefore, We the Staff of the 1981 Mustang, do hereby dedicate this, the ninth edition, to Mrs. Judy Moore. We wish you all the happiness and good fortune that such an extraordinary person deserves.

HAPPENINGS

The 1980-81 school year was distinguished by many special events. Homecoming 1980 was perhaps the most exciting of our Mustang "Happenings."

For the community at large MHS students provided Operation Santa Claus. This was a most rewarding experience for the members of the student body who participated in it.

The nation as a whole also affected MHS by a special "Happening". The election of Ronald Reagan to the Presidency of the U.S. undoubtedly will influence our future as it did our 1980 school year and Manor High's mock Presidential election.

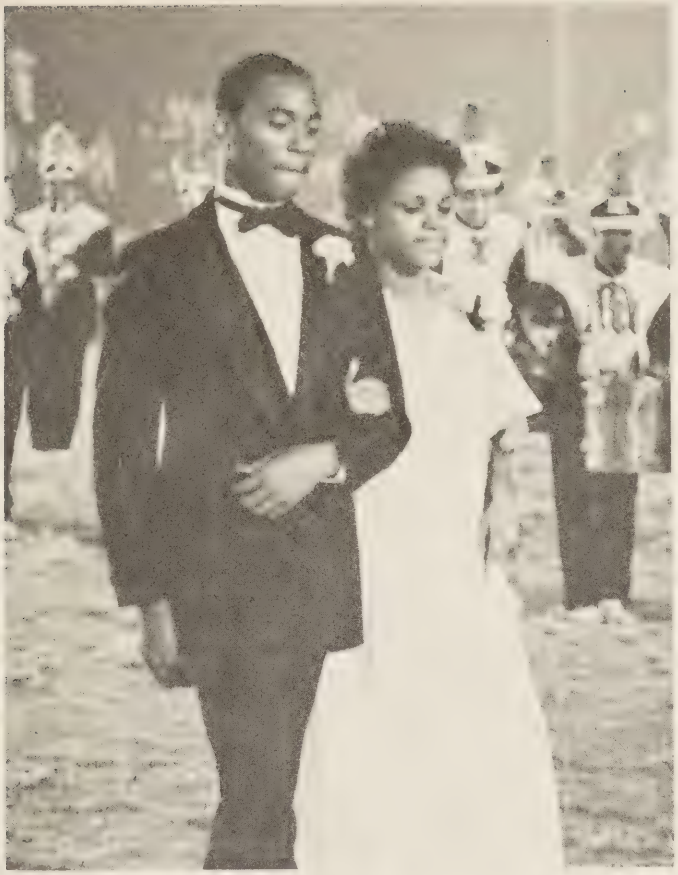
Homecoming Queen Sabrina Moody and escort Dudley Brooks.

First runner up Pam Johnston and escort Joey Futrell.

The Mustang Homecoming celebration took place at Churchland Stadium on October 10, 1980. Festivities began with the presentation of the Homecoming Court and class attendents. All were dressed in formal attire; the gentlemen in white tuxedos and the ladies in long evening gowns. The air was filled with suspense and anticipation as the crowning of the King and Queen drew near. The class attendents were introduced and greeted by the cheering crowd. A drum roll from the band accompanied the announcement of Dudley Brooks and Sabrina Moody as the 1980 Homecoming King and Queen. Mr. Mills had the honor of crowning the Queen.

Halftime activities also included an excellent performance from the band on the field and the annual Homecoming float parade.

Second runner up Ginger Jones and escort Bryan Hester.



Senior attendents Cheryl Robinson and escort Kenny Davis.

Junior attendents Kenneth Pugh and Elizabeth Spears.

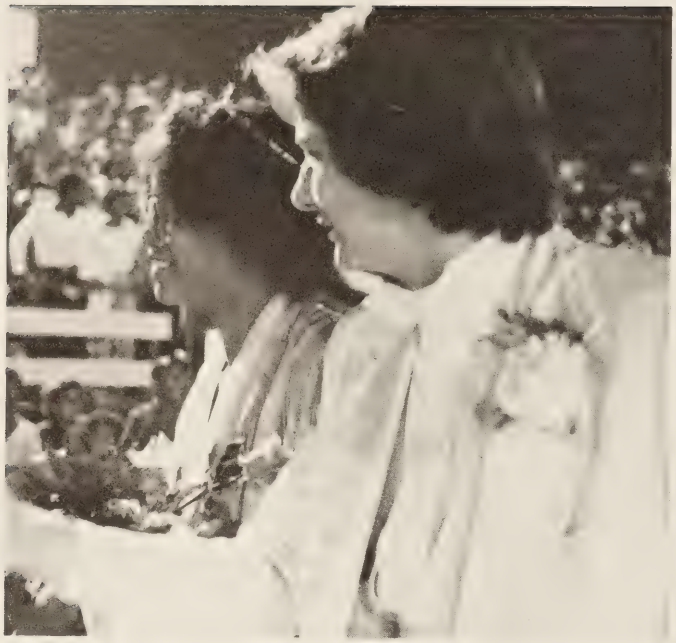
Freshmen attendents Victor Johnson and Maria Moore.

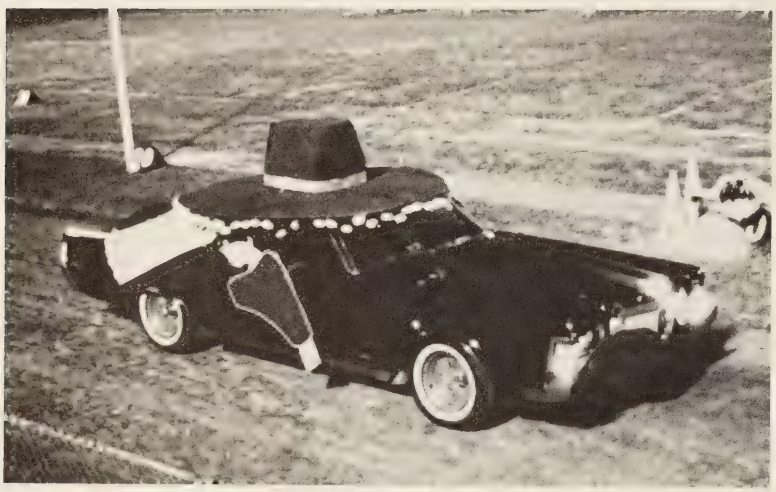
THE WILD WILD WEST



Sabrina Moody and Dudley Brooks lead the Homecoming Procession.

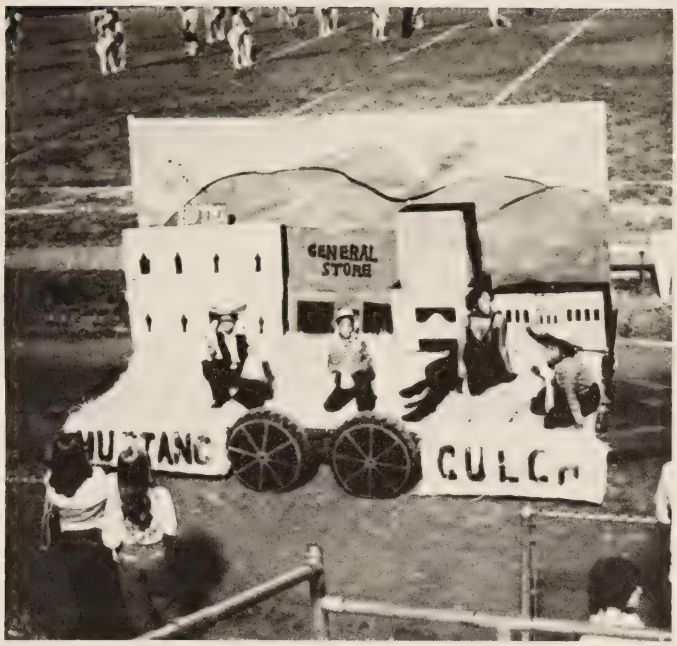
Western frontier life marks one of the most exciting yet difficult eras in American history. The settlement of the West represented the dreams of gold-hungry miners and of homesteaders whose hard labor developed the barren plains. Cowboy hats, leather boots, levi jeans and colorful bandanas — that was the decor for life in the west and the Mustang homecoming 1980. The Mustangs presented their interpretation of the good 'ole days in the wild west through Art, fashion, and music. The parade of floats displayed the western lifestyle from stagecoaches to sunset showdowns.

The 1980 Homecoming would not have been such a great success without the organization, hard work and creativity from the SGA. The advice and supervision given to the SGA by Mr. Cash was undoubtedly an essential factor in making this Homecoming, Manor's best ever!



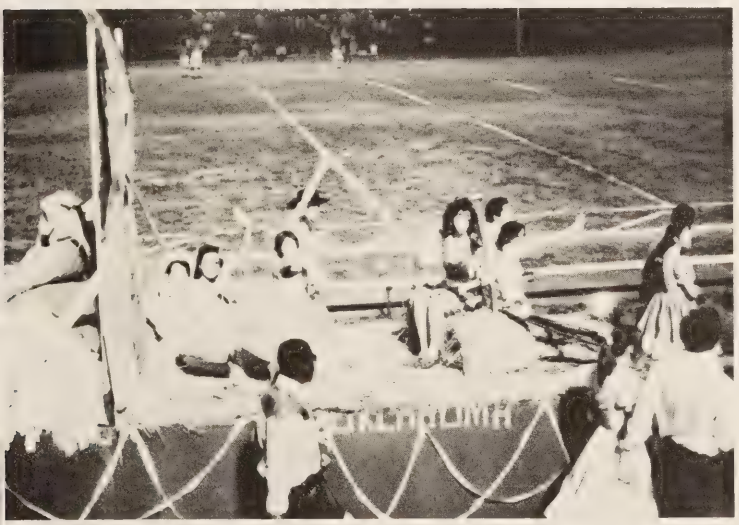
The Spanish float has an air of mystery.

Second place float by the Art Club - The Electric Stagecoach.



The Senior Class Float - Mustang Gulch received an honorable mention.

Ginger Johnson riding high!



The Chorus achieved a third place ranking for the third consecutive year with their float - Oklahoma.

The Home Economics float depicts rest and relaxation western style.

The Mustang can-can girls.

ELECTION 1980

On November 4, 1980, once again the citizens of the U.S. were given the opportunity to select someone who, for the next four years would hold the office of Chief Executive. The candidates for this position were Democrat President Jimmy Carter, Republican Candidate Ronald Reagan and Independent John Anderson. All of the national television broadcasting stations kept viewers informed of the progressing tally of the votes throughout the evening. President Carter delivered his concession speech to fellow Americans long before the final results had been announced because Ronald Reagan had already acquired the majority of popular votes.

Finally, in the early hours of November 5, the official results were announced. Undoubtedly, Ronald Reagan won by a landslide. He carried 44 states with a total of 489 electoral votes to Carter's six states (Minn., W. VA., Maryland, GA, RI, and Hawaii) with only 49 electoral votes.

The inauguration of Ronald Reagan marked the beginning of a new era of Conservatism in the United States. To replace the moderate Democratic policies of Jimmy Carter, Americans have picked the most popular representative of Republican Conservatism. This may be the most abrupt switch in the government's viewpoint of problems since FDR defeated Herbert Hoover in 1932.

Reagan faces challenges that few other Presidents have experienced. The nation's citizens are looking to him to bring them out of a difficult period in history. The hardship of inflation and humiliation of 52 American hostages in Iran have left them longing for a clean change.

Americans hold high expectations as Ronald Reagan enters the White House, they realize even a President cannot work miracles. The Americans are looking for a strong administration that will bring prosperity, rebuild U.S. Military strength and restore the nation's prestige around the world, yet they acknowledge that none of these can be accomplished over night.

MANOR'S ELECTION

Once again, Manor held a mock election corresponding to the national presidential election. Yes, the Manor tradition of choosing the loser as our school winner remained unbroken. Since 1974, when the first schoolwide mock election was held, the candidate selected by the Mustangs, lost the official election.

A different technique was used in casting ballots this year. Instead of having mock polls on the commons, during lunch periods, all students voted in homeroom. The dirty political techniques used last year such as stuffing ballot boxes and bribing officials, were responsible for this change. Mrs. Yearby, election supervisor, felt in order to give the candidates a fair chance and to acquire the most acurate results of the students opinion, it was necessary to change the procedure for student voting.

Of the 905 votes cast on November 4th in the mock election, 680 students voted for Democrat Jimmy Carter, 177 for Republican Ronald Reagan and only 48 for independent John Anderson.

The Seniors were required in U.S. Government classes to campaign for the candidate of their choice. Posters, buttons and candy favors were distributed among the faculty and students prior tothe election to create enthusiasm. The main point of this assignment was to express the importance of being involved. One particualr slogan, supporting Ronald Reagan, in tune with the Dr. Pepper song was:

I'm for Reagan,
He's for Reagan,
She's for Reagan,
Wouldn't you like to be for
Reagan too?

Congressman Bob Daniel

CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATES VISIT MANOR

UNOFFICIAL RESULTS

Daniel	92,444
Jenkins	59,476

Prior to the November election, the incumbent Fourth District Congressman Bob Daniel and his opponent Cecil Jenkins visited Manor to present their views to the students. A selected group of Seniors were chosen to question the candidated on specific issues.

Bob Daniel has been a U.S. Congressman for eight years and has created a reputation as an intelligent and hardworking representative. During these eight years, he has acquired the ability to understand and speak out on the issues which will affect not only the Fourth District but the nation as well.

He agrees that government spending must be controlled and taxes lowered. Daniel sets National Defense as a priority for America. The U.S. must protect the security and interests of the American people. He has taken a special interest in environmental, historic and neighborhood conservation issues. His campaign slogan reminded the constituents of his accomplishments while in Congress: YOU KNOW HE WORKS FOR YOU.

Cecil Jenkins, presently serving on Chesapeake City Council believed the Fourth District needed a real representative. His stand on the issues showed a deep concern for the welfare of the people in the Fourth District and the Nation. He felt, as does Congressman Daniel, that government spending must be controlled in order to end the high rate of inflation. However, although, Jenkins views were similiar to those of Daniel, Mr. Jenkins did not have the experience needed to defeat Daniel. The citizens of the Fourth District have seen the results of Daniel's hard work as a Congressman and know he'll continue to work for them.

Mr. Cecil Jenkins

PORTSMOUTH ALUMNUS MAKES GENERAL

Brigadier General William G.T. Tuttle, Jr., Principal Mrs. Hinton, and Dr. Walter Galliford Assistant Superintendent of Instructions for the Portsmouth Public School System.

Brigadier General William G.T. Tuttle, Jr. was commissioned upon graduation from the United Stated Military Academy in 1958. Upon completion of basic Infantry Officer, Ranger and Airborne training, he was assigned to the 82nd Airborne Division.

In 1960 General Tuttle transferred to the Transportation Corps, and had successive assignments to the 36th Transportation Battalion and HQ XVIII Airborne Corps at Fort Bragg. In 1963 he commanded the 584th Transportation Intelligence Detachment and was the Transportation Plans Officer at HQ Eighth U.S. Army in Korea. These were followed by assignments as Instructor and Assistant Professor of Social Sciences at the United States Military Academy, West Point; Executive Officer, 9th Infantry Division in Vietnam; and service at Headquarters, Department of the Army.

In 1972 the General joined the 3rd Armored Division as G4, and commanded the 503rd Supply and Transport Battalion from 1973 to 1975. He served as Chief Logistics, Division Restructuring Study Group and Director, Combat Service Support Systems in the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Combat Developments, U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command. General Tuttle assumed command of MTMC Eastern Area in July 1979 after twenty-one months commanding the 3d Armored Division Support Command in Germany. He holds an MBA from Harvard University and is a graduate of the Armed Force Staff College and the Army War College. His decorations include the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Meritorious Service Medal.

He is married to the former Helen Warren of Portsmouth, Virginia. They have a daughter, Lynn, and two sons, Robert and Jonathan.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The Foreign Language Mardi Gras Week was held during the week of February 17th thru 21st. It began with a poster contest and a project foir on Monday. The posters and projects were on display in the library. The first place winner in the poster contest was Tim Jackson. Tim Cherry and Avery Davis were first place winners in the project fair.

On Tuesday a Declamation contest was held. Each student competing was to read a paragraph in his or her foreign langauge. All three languages competed on beginning and advanced levels. The first place winners for French, Latin, and Spanish were: Beginning French - Roger Culpepper, Advanced French - Joan Cherry, Intermediate Latin - Lori Wilson, Advanced Latin - Tim Cherry and Kenneth Corum, Beginning Spanish - Roxanne Long, Advanced Spanish - Cheryl Clisby.

An International Buffet was held at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday at which the King and Queen, Mark Whitaker and Sharon Herring, and their court were presented and crowned. The first runners up were Angela Albergottie and Todd Hall. Second runners up were Lynette Hatcher and Reddell Windley. Participating students and their parents were invited to the International Buffet. The students did an excellent job of preparing some complicated and delicious dishes. The first place winners in the International Buffet were: French Meats - Janet Miller, French Vegetables - Lynn Stallings and Amand Mines, French Desserts - Robert Sarver, Latin Meats - Lori Wilson, Spanish Meats - Sandy Cox, Spanish Vegetables - Lisa Towns, Spanish Desserts - Terrence Epps.

The Mardi Gras Parade was held Wednesday during lunch periods. The band, floats, banners and costumes worn by the foreign language students called much attention to Foreign Language.

For the first time an awards assembly was held on Friday. This assembly presented trophies, ribbons, and certificates to the contest winners.

Thanks to the careful planning by Mrs. Lucas - Department Head, Mrs. Flynn, Mr. Crute, and Mrs. Bradley, Foreign Language Week at Manor was a complete success.

MARDI GRAS

HONORS

In striving for the best, students at MHS achieved a degree of excellence in many and various areas. Whether through extra research in Science and Math or the performance of artistic talents, Manor High students brought honors and awards to our school.

The example set by our outstanding students is an inspiration to each MHS student to set goals and to strive to achieve them.

1981 MARCHING MUSTANGS

Mustangs wait their turn to perform

Under the direction of Mrs. Gugler, the 1981 Marching Mustangs once again proved to be #1. The band placed first in the Fishbowl Classic, first in the Portsmouth Jaycees Christmas Parade and first place at Hampton Institute Band Day. They also placed first in the Turkey Bowl, first place at Howard University and received a rating of excellence at the PA Parade of Champions.

This superior record of achievement could not have been accomplished without hard work and devotion. Practices began early in the summer with marching in 95 degree weather until the routine was perfect. The music was difficult but the hardest part in achieving perfection was keeping in step with the other band members. The Mustangs style of marching is unique and original. Although other high school bands have tried to copy our methods, they don't seem to realize that styles can change but class goes on.

The members of the Marching Mustang Band deserve recoginition for their excellent achievements. Manor is proud to have students with such exceptional talents who are willing to expand and develop this talent.

FACES

The student body at Manor represents a cross section of todays society. Discussions of various topics could always be heard in the halls and in the classrooms.

Students reflected as many different personalities as they did opinions. True-to-life, MHS had apathetic students, however, the average Mustang showed interest in MHS and participated in some phase of Manor activity.

The knowledge that a solid educational background meant a more productive and successful future prompted most of MHS'S students to take their school work seriously. Some students even found the learning experience to be an enjoyable one.

1981 SENIOR SUPERLATIVES

Best Build/Figure - Rufus Hurdle, Greta Darden

Friendliest - Lonnell Bell, Mae Johnson

The 1981 Superlatives were chosen by the Senior Class. Each student nominated one boy and girl for each of the 18 categories. After the votes were tallied the top three names from each category were placed on a final ballot. Then the seniors selected the final superlatives.

The superlatives were selected based on the students appearance, ability, or personality towards their fellow classmates. These persons chosen are among the highest degree of comparison. They are the most outstanding students in their specific category based on the opinions of the Seniors.

Chosing the superlatives is a time consuming and tedious task. Thanks to senior sponsers Mrs. Moore, and Mrs. Holleran, the selection of superlatives was done fairly and concisely.

Best Dressed - Tyrone Jordan, Dana Jackson

Class Flirts - Raymond Fleming, Karen Dawson

Cutest Couple - Mark Windley, Kim Peacock

Most Popular - Lonnell Bell, Sherri Pittman

Most Talkative - Michael Pugh, Everlette McMurran

Best All Around - Stanley Ransburg, Sabrina Moody

THE DYNAMIC DUO

Two fantastic, energetic ladies who assisted the Seniors in making "their year" a special one were Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Holleran. They worked closely with the Senior class officers in planning the numerous activities which filled the Senior's year with excitement and fun. To start off the year, Jostens came and took orders for caps and gowns, announcements and senior keys. Then came Homecoming! As usual, the Senior float was spectacular. Thanks to the hard work and supervision of Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Holleran, the float was completed on time.

The most time consuming, tedious task given to the sponsers is planning graduation. This includes arranging a guest speaker, rehearsals and last minute details. The Seniors were lucky to have sponsers with such creativity and orginality. For the first time, a local celebrity will be the guest speaker at graduation. Without a doubt, graduation will be Manor's most successful.

Mrs. Holleran and Mrs. Moore are two special people who willingly helped the Seniors in every aspect of their school life. Their devotion and support is most appreciated.

A PROMISING PAIR

For most students, a pile of textbooks is not a very attractive proposition; but for the academically minded students, it is a necessity. Such was the case with Valedictorian Joan Cherry and Salutatorian Janet Rathbone. Through four years of diligent study and hard work, they managed to uphold the highest academic standards.

It was not all work and no play for this pair, however, as Janet and Joan both participated in a myriad of both school, community, and extra-curricular activities.

GREENBACK GREEDY

Faced with the expense of being "upper, upper" classmen, many Seniors relied on part time jobs to raise needed funds. Many worked at fast food restaurants or stores at the local Mall.

Senior portraits emptied many pockets of precious dollars as did dates, class dues, yearbooks, college applications and announcements. Fortunately, with commencement, came much appreciated gifts which helped to bolster the depleated budget of the grads.

DISEASE PLAGUES SENIORS

Senioritis—best described by teachers as laziness. It is a disease which affects all Seniors eventually. The symptoms are quite obvious; (1) lack of concentration (2) inability to respond enthusiastically in class and (3) falling grades. It is not uncommon to walk into any Senior classroom around April and discover a student sleeping. No, he is not suffering from lack of rest but rather this unusual disease of Senioritis. There is no preventive action to protect a Senior from this desease. Within two weeks of commencement, the symptoms disappear and once again Seniors are the joyous, bubbling students that entered school the first day of "their year".

One Senior worthy of recognition for her outstanding accomplishment as a writer is Sherri Inman. She was chosen to represent Manor through her essay in the Voice of Democracy Contest. Her paper, entitled, "My Committment to My Country", was also chosen to represent Portsmouth in the District Competition. Sherri received a certificate of recognition from the school and a plague, a $25 check and a pin from the mayor which was presented to her at a City Council Meeting.

Mr. Mitchell, played an important part in the success of her paper. He coached her on dictation, grammar and the general structure of her essay. Manor is very proud to have such hard working, outstanding students as Sherri.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

The Senior Class Officers and Advisory Committee worked closely with sponsors Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Holleran in making this year a special and memorable one for the Seniors. The officers were: President Beatrice Wilson, Vice President Prell Hunter, Secretary Sharon Herring, Treasurer Lisa Jones and Publicity Directors Dwayne Coston and Tammy Schultz. The Advisory Committee consisted of Chrystal Bond, Sandranette Moses, Cindy Mauk, Pam Elam, and Emily Hubbard.

To start off the year right, the Senior officers promoted a campaign in displaying school spirit. The Seniors ordered T-shirts with all the names of the 1981 graduating class printed on them. During the Homecoming pep rally, all Seniors who had purchased T-shirts wore them to show the class of 1981 was the best!

WHICH WAY NOW?

For twelve years, they've known what has been expected of them. They've been guided, protected and pointed in the right direction. Now they have come to the crossroads. It is their turn to make the decisions. It is their turn to make the decisions. The Seniors are faced with a challenging situation.

For some, the college life is where their heading. Others will find jobs, get married or go to technical school. Whatever the choice, Manor has given them the incentive to make their dreams come true. It has been a fun four years, full of many opportunities and challenges. Of course, there were trying times such as Pfeifers English class, term papers and chemistry equations.

It's now time to say good-bye to their teachers and friends. As they walk through those doors, a part of Manor will go with them; for it is here they had their beginning.

THE GRAND FINALE!

The big day finally arrived. It seemed as though June would never come. Term papers completed, textbooks closed and lockers emptied; high school days were now a thing of the past for our Seniors.

The festive occasion with it's showers of gifts, hugs and kisses, marked the end of a long, trying year. As the names were called one by one, memories of football games, pep rallies and prom night came to mind. These people, who for four years played an important part in each Senior's life, would soon be going their separate ways. It was a sad yet joyous occassion for the 1981 graduating class. They say now, they won't be back; but they will. For Manor holds many very special memories for each one of them.

Onward, Ever Upward

Onward, ever upward we must go,
From being "Seniors", to becoming adults.
In this year we have tried to show,
What living life is all about.

Growing up with each other
From elementary school on,
Will be a time we can never forget,
Especially when we broke the rules,
And gave the teachers a fit.

We cruised on through Junior High School,
And then began to debate,
Whether to choose Manor or Norcom after grade eight.

From the freshman year to the junior,
We shaped up and showed progress,
And now in this our senior year,
We don't intend to regress.

From the last football game, and the last band show,
To the way we carried ourselves,
During this time the Class of '81 brought to Manor High School,
Students with so many talents and wealth.

We showed our leadership,
And lent our guidance
To those who needed a hand,
We ever tried to work with those,
Who rejected all of our plans.

To teachers, friends and other people,
We'll always try to be,
A class with perceptive minds,
For all the world to see.

Onward, ever Upward —
Will always be our theme, to remember and to know,
Because when we leave Manor,
It will help the Class of '81 continue to grow.

Ginger Renee Jones

ALMA MATER

We of Manor High School stand here today,
A generation eager to lead the way.
Our spirits we offer, torches of light,
Flamed by your guidance, knowledge, and might.

Hands clasped together, brothers we stand
To dedicate our future to your demand.
To represent justice, honor and truth
We stand a part of Manor High School.

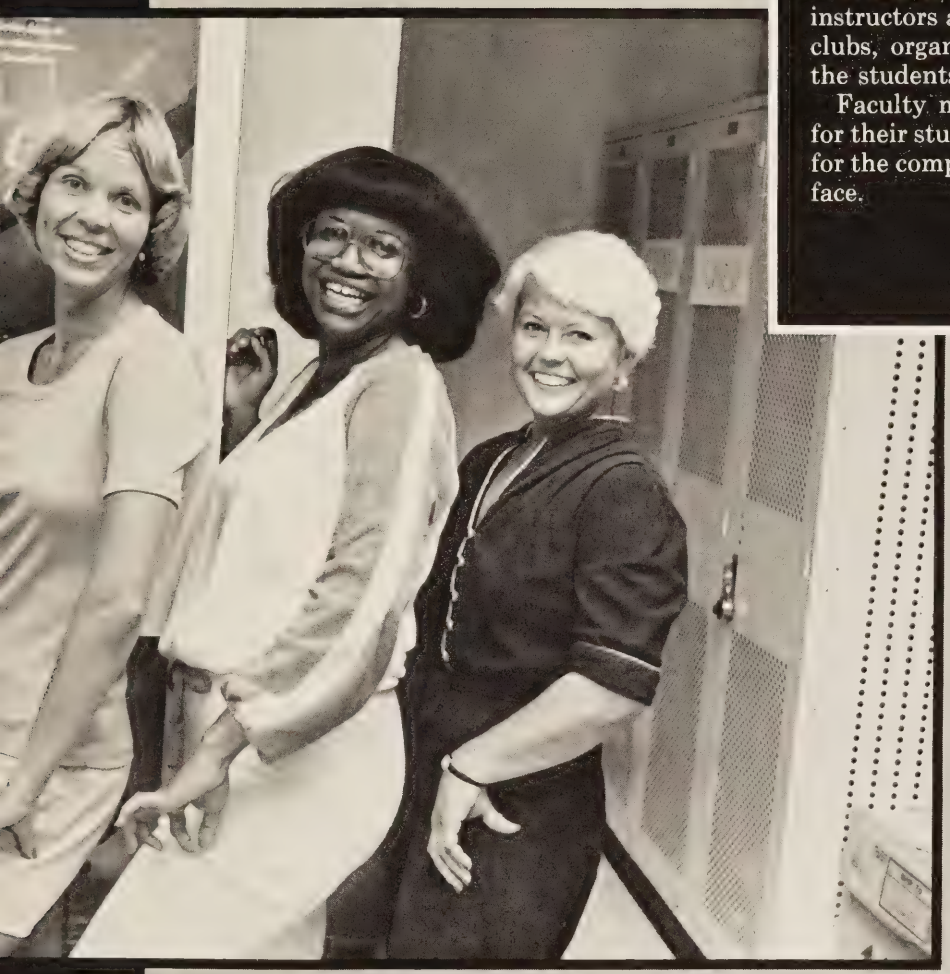
FACULTY

The Portsmouth City Schools had as their objective for 1980-81 the emphasis of improving communication skills in the classroom. Teachers therefore placed grammar and writing among the top priority in every subject.

Students found teachers to be more than just instructors as faculty members assisted with the clubs, organizations, and general counseling of the students.

Faculty members at MHS showed a concern for their students as they helped to prepare them for the competitive world which they would soon face.



SECOND TIME AROUND

Dear Students:

As seniors you should be excited to know that you are about to reach a milestone in your lives. Receiving your diploma represents an investment of twelve years of your lives that have been devoted to preparing yourselves for college or the work world. Numerous golden opportunities are lying before you. The extent to which you will succeed depends upon you — not only upon the foundation that you have constructed but your future ambition and willingness to work diligently to achieve.

Allow me to challenge you to satisfy yourself with nothing less than your best in all future undertakings. Each of you has your very own special talents. Develop these talents and make a contribution to your fellow man. Recognize that your Alma Mater is proud of you and will always be interested in your success and ready to assist you in any way possible. Let me assure you that you indeed hold a special place in my eyes since I have known you for six years and was promoted with your class to Manor High School four years ago.

Sincerely yours,

Olivia T. Hinton

(Mrs.) Olivia T. Hinton

ADMINISTRATION

The Administration of Manor High School exists to aid in the learning process of all students. The primary goal of the administration is to insure that each student is given the best instructional program possible without interuption. This means that the principal and assistant principals diligently strive to create an environment for teachers to work at maximum efficiency and students doing the same. Discipline, scheduling, general organization and planning have to be coordinated to make this goal possible.

GUIDANCE

The Guidance Department provides services to students with the aim of developing their potential to become responsible citizens. The services provided vary with the individual students and their goals and ambitions, but include testing, personal-social-academic counseling, career and college counseling, and course planning.

The Guidance Department is staffed by a Guidance Director, three counselors, and one clerk. Student aides assist the clerks and counselors when they are available and as the workload demands.

OFFICE PERSONNEL

The Manor High School office staff consists of Mrs. Jackie Thompson, Mrs. Carole Sawyer, Ms. Kathy Saunders, Mrs. Hilda Battle, and Mrs. Margaret Gatling. These faculty members are indispensable to the student body and the entire faculty staff. Without their hardwork, patience and understanding, the Mustangs would be lost.

A sample of their daily tasks include:

1. Answering the telephone.
2. Writing students passes to class.
3. Collaborating attendance sheets.
4. Collecting money for curricular activities.
5. Assisting the administration in all aspects.

Manor High School could never be successful without the true dedication of these people. We, the student body commend you on a job well done.

PEOPLE BEHIND THE SCENES

Five people which are a special asset to the staff of Manor High School are Mr. Michael Nold, Mr. Wilmer Cooke, Mrs. Cynthia Davis, Mr. John Shotzeberger and Mr. Vernon Norvell. These persons are respectfully titled, "The People Behind the Scenes." They provide a safe, healthy environment at Manor to enable the students to receive the proper education. Without their devoted service and deep concern for the students and faculty, Manor could not function successfully. We all should be grateful to have such fine people as part of Manor High School.

LEARNING AND LUNCH

Students at Manor High School, in a learning environment, need food for the body as well as the mind. These necessities are provided in part by both the Manor Library and the Cafeteria. Both staffs work diligently to enhance the total student. Their efforts are not always foremost in our concept of the learning process but are greatly appreciated.

ENGLISH

The English Department's main objectives were to encourage the students to improve their writing skills, to improve their oral expression, to improve in their comprehension of various literary works, and to encourage student participation in subject-reated contests.

Electives offered in the department were drama, journalism, and public speaking. We also have a diligent debate coach, as well as a newspaper sponser.

The drama classes worked with students to develop a series of theatrical presentations; students competed in the "Voice of Democracy" contests/and the newspaper sponser continued to produce an excellent newspaper, Mustang Highlights.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The Social Studies Department teaches a variety of subjects in keeping with student interests. It is the goal of the department to expand the number of electives taught.

Government students this year were exposed to election techniques as well as candidates running in the 1980 elections. Representative Bob Daniel and hopeful Mr. Cecil Jenkins made visits to Manor in October. World History and U. S. History students were exposed to Washington, D. C. as never before.

MATHEMATICS

The Math Department, staffed by eight teachers, offered nine courses including accelerated, college preparatory, practical and consumer sections. To meet the two-credit graduation requirement, students chose from the following courses: General Math, Pre-Algebra, Algebra I & II, Practical Math, Consumer Math, Geometry, Advanced Algebra- Trigonometry and Analysis.

Involvement of students in more math activities was the departments goal for the year. Students had the opportunity to participate in regional contests sponsered by the VA Mathematics League and were able to compete at TCC in state-wide contests sponsered by the VA Council of Mathematics.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Rome . . . Paris . . . Madrid . . . Buenos Aires . . . Travel is great! But . . . why not double the pleasure of foreign travel? Learn something about the people and places, and learn to communicate with people who do not speak English. Take a foreign language now while you have the time and the opportunity.

At Manor we offer you French, Latin, and Spanish, and these courses are open to any student who is interested and willing to learn. The language courses emphasize the skills of listening, speaking, reading and writing in the foreign language and learning about the culture of the people who speak the language you choose.

Consider taking a foreign language next year. It may open a whole new world for you.

SCIENCE

There are five science courses taught in our department which is staffed by six returning teachers and one new teacher, Mr. Smith. The science courses taught are Physical Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics.

All of the science courses are lab oriented and major emphasis was placed upon the students ability to acquire knowledge and comprehension of facts and concepts through examples, theories, laws, terminology, diagrams, and pictures.

Students were encouraged to participate in local, district and national competitions such as the Tidewater Science Congress and Virginia Junior Academy of Science.

The main objective of our department was to provide all students with meaningful learning experiences in science through participation in the above activities.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

Business Education course offerings are designed to meet the needs of two groups of students. First, courses are offered to provide basic business education including occupational orientation and exploration for all students. Second, occupational preparation coursed are offered for those who plan to enter business and office occupations

The Manor Business Dept. provides the students with basic skills for a good administrative secretary or correspondence specialist. In the spring students operate a model office which is a classroom setting of a laboratory with equipment, furnishings, organization, and job tasks which resemble that of an actual office.

D.E.-I.C.T.-C.O.E.

Marketing and Distributive Education is a cooperative program that enables a student to combine part-time employment with classroom instruction for retail, wholesale, and service occupations.

There are three levels of distributive education at Manor plus a specialized class in fashion merchandising. These classes are D.E. I-(Fundamentals of Marketing), D.E. II-(Marketing), D.E. III-(Advanced Marketing), and Fashion Merchandising.

I.C.T. is an elective course, which enables students to work parttime in jobs of their choice or a closely related field. These students attend school half of the day and work for local employers the other half of the day.

Class time is spent discussing such topics as employer-employee relations, How to get a job, labor laws, life and health insurance and communications skills.

Their work is primarily vocational as opposed to consumer related.

Through Cooperative Office Education (COE), classroom study and on-the-job training are coordinated. Schedules of COE students are arranged so that the students attend classes part of the day and are employed in offices during the other part of the day. The on-the-job office experience is an extension of the classroom instruction. The in-school preparation is coordinated with the student's on-the-job assignments by a business teacher coordinator.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics Department here at Manor High is unique because of its variety in course offerings. An interesting selection of topics and ideas are included in each of three levels of Home Economics. They include such things as child development, consumer education, food & clothing management, how to decorate a home, finding a place to live and how to entertain in your home.

Juniors and Seniors are able to take a course designed for them entitled "Independent Living." This course is good for males. Manor has the largest enrollment of male students in Home Economics of all the high schools in the city.

The teachers in our department are well qualified and welcome all students for we do have a great deal to offer.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The Industrial Arts Department at Manor has departed from the traditional categorization of "shop", in that courses offered are primarily observation and exploration labs designed to give students insights for future vocation or avocation.

The five instructors in the department are dedicated to the premise that students should experience as many facets of industry as possible. These include, not only the technical aspects, but the economic opportunities as well. Thereby the student gains a head start on important decisions for the future.

ART

Creative outlets within an educational program provide a course of completeness to that program. The Art Department has endeavored to implement a program of instruction which will aid in the development of students who are art oriented and artistically creative.

In the pursuit of art, a student may become conscious of his own growth as an individual. The courses in the Art program have been organized in order to give basis to this philosophy. Art I is basic art. Art II, III, and IV give a solid foundation in art through a course outline which includes lectures, audio visual aids, student projects, and demonstrations.

The art laboratory has a unique appearance. The spacious and modern laboratory is all inclusive. The one large area utilized by two full-time instructors is well equipped and provides an area off of the main instruction area for ceramics. Just outside the art laboratory is a glass display case for students to place completed artwork.

In recent years, the department has excelled in community service. Our department has served as host to the local museum's travelling art show and art students from local colleges have been sent to observe art classes in our department as a means for them to gain experience in teaching art to students.

STUDENT LIFE

The start of school on September 2 marked the end of summer fun and relaxation. At first, it was difficult for students to get back into the routine of school life. Once the adjustment was made students began to get involved in the many organizations and activities that were offered at MHS.

In addition to attending academic classes, students were involved in a myriad of both co-cirricular and extra-cirricular activities. These activities combined to form a microcosm of the society within which our students live and learn.

GAMES WE PLAY

The coaches and athletes joined in a continuous effort during the school year to improve the athletic program at MHS. The dedication and sportsmanship displayed by Manor athletes exemplified their desire to not only win, but to play the game well.

Sports programs at Manor provided not only a way to gain physical fitness, they provided a welcome relief from the monotony of school life. Athletics also helped to boost school spirit.

The 1980 Manor Golf team showed true Mustang skill and pride by winning the AAA Virginia State Golf title. Their victory provided an example for all to follow.

TOUGH START SLOWS SEASON

Plagued by injuries to key personel, the '80 Mustangs endured one of its toughest season compiling a 1-9 record. By virtue of the computer scheduling system the players had to face three of the district's toughest teams right at the start of league play: defending champion Great Bridge, Western Branch, and last year's runner-up Wilson.

Early on, the Mustangs had defensive difficulties and an offense that ran hot and cold. As the season went on the players matured and began to play with more intensity. Manor's nine game losing streak came to a halt as the team finally broke into the win column by sinking the Admirals of Cradock 12-7. As a result of his defensive efforts David Bannock received player of the week honors from the Currents section of the Ledger-Star.

Several players exhibited commendable individual effort during the season. Quarterback Todd Hall reigned as the area's top passer by completing 52 of 158 passes for a total of 824 yards and six touchdowns. In his first outing as quarterback in the game against Wilson, Todd tossed a 64 yard TD bomb to add to David Brannock's field-goal Manor led in the contest 9-0. The; previously unscored-upon Presidents were stunned. They soon regained their composure however, and went on to rout the Mustangs 40-9.

Breaking Away. Stanley Ransburg catches the Norcom defense off guard as he scampers down the sideline for a long gain.

Mustang Strategy. Hobbie Hinnant receives the next play from Coach James Morrison.

TOUGH START SLOWS SEASON CONT'D

Players who received post-season honors were: Daryl Fields, first and second team All-Portsmouth, first and second team All-District, and honorable mention All-State; Stanley Ransburg, second team All-Portsmouth; Pedro Harmon, second team All-Portsmouth, second team All-District; David Brannock, second team All-Portsmouth; Todd Hall and Lonnell Bell, honorable mention All-Portsmouth.

In spite of a disappointing season, team members were determined to keep their spirit high. Todd Hall commented, "Our season really surprised me. I didn't think we would lose all those games."

CAGERS MAKE PROGRESS

Described as "a year away", Manor's Basketball Team was predicted by the Ledger-Star to finish no better than ninth in the Southeastern District. Contrary to this prediction the Mighty Mustangs finished the season with an 11-9 record, placing sixth in the District.

Competition this year in the Southeastern District was keen, and upsets were not uncommon. This was exhibited by the fact that no District team finished the season with less than seven losses on their overall record.

Although most teams played out an eighteen game schedule, only a ten game stretch was used to decide the championship. Each team was allowed only one chance for the record with another District school. The District contests were tight, usually going down to the buzzer, and were clinched by one or two baskets.

After dropping a two point decision to Oscar Smith in the opening game of the season, the Mustangs recorded their first win as they defeated the Bruins of Western Branch, 63-52.

In the first two rounds of the Honret Christmas Classic, Manor suffered losses at the hands of two powerful out-of-state schools. The Mustangs then rallied against their third opponent, romping over Northeastern, 80-63. This victory sparked the team on and they reeled off four straight victories before bowing in tough games against Indian River and Cradock.

Season's Record: 11-9

Hornets invaded the Manor Field House bringing with them a formidable record and a second place rating in the Tidewater Basketball Poll. Manor was not to be intimidated as they kept the score close. The lead changed hands often and the Hornets led by three points at the half. With the support of a large home crowd the Mustangs played consistently, capitalizing on mistakes made by the foul-prone Hornets. In the final seconds, clutch freethrow shooting lifted Manor past the Hornets in a 61-58 upset. This victory over a much taller Deep Creek team was cited as the season's most satisfying win.

The next game was a down to the wire 48-47 loss to I.C. Norcom. But the Mustangs rebounded, winning over Great Bridge and Churchland.

In the last regular game of the season, the Mustangs rebounded, Winning over Great Bridge and Churchland.

In the last regular game of the season, the Mustangs found themselves in a tight spot facing Oscar Smith, a team hungry for a victory. After three close quarters, the game was a lost 47-46 due to an abundance of Manor turnovers.

Qualifying for the Southeastern District Tournament, the Mustangs were pitted against their arch-rival I.C. Norcom in the first round. The Ledger-Staf predicted that Norcom would take the game by six points. With Manor down by four at the half, it looked as if the prediction might come ture. However, the Mustangs cut Norcom's lead to one point with only one quarter remaining. A fourth quarter surge put manor ahead for the first time. As a result of three technical fouls on the Greyhounds, Bobby Bell sank ten freethrows to put the game out of Norcom's reach. Manor went on to win in a rout, 67-50. In the fourth quarter the Mustangs scored thirty-six points, the most points ever scored in one quarter by a Manor basketball team.

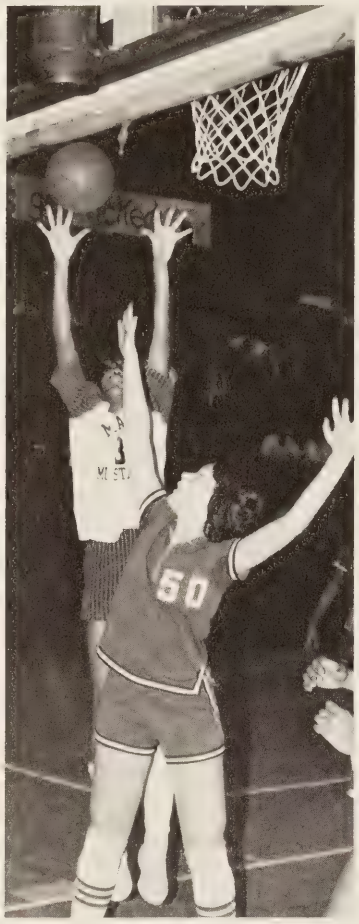
In the semifinals against Churchland, Manor trailed throughout most of the game. The Mustangs never gave up and with tremendous effort they were able to tie the contest at 47 with only 1:50 to go. Foul shots again determined the outcome as the Truckers hit on two opportunities escaping with a narrow 52-49 Victory.

Building on this year's experience the Mustangs of 1981-82 should be very competitive in the Southeastern Distict.

Hooping it up. Stanley "Speedy" Ransburg puts up a shot as a Bruin player has his hand positioned for the block.
Bruin mixed up. Mike Davis connects for another basket over unwary tern Branch player.
Shooting for two. Bobby Bell reaps the rewards of a fastbreak as his shot is good for a score.

Collision course. Players make contact as a Deep Creek guard attempts to put the ball up for a basket.

Off the glass. Catching the Trucker defense out of position, Sabrina Moody seizes the opportunity to convert an easy lay-up.



LADIES WEAVE NET MAGIC

With a core of seasoned veterans, the Lady Mustangs rolled to a 13-5 season, the best ever for any Manor Basketball Team. Cooperation was cited as the key to the teams success. "Everybody on the team was " stated Laura Kozoyed.

The season began with high hopes. Fhe first scores were encouraging as Manor defeated Oscar Smith, 67-56 and Western Branch, 63-51 prior to participating in the Portsmouth Girls Basketball Christmas Tournament.

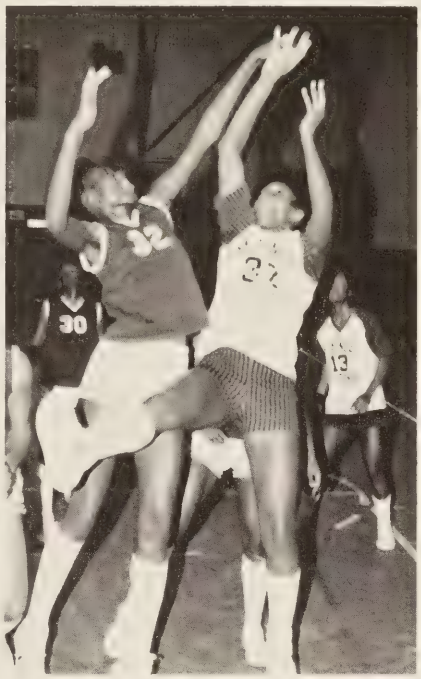
After drawing a bye in the first round of the tournament, Manor confronted the Lady Truckers of chland. The game was tight, but the Mustangs reigned victorious winning by six, 65-59. In the championship game against Wilson the schore was 52- 52 at end of regulation. Applying the pressure in overtime, the Lady Mustangs held off the Lady Presidents, winning the thriller by two points 58-56. This victory upped their record to an unblemished 4-0. Manor had two players selected to be on the All-Tournament Team; Sabrina Moody and Anita Cooper, the tournament's most valuable player

In the very next game against Wison the tables tables were turned. With two seconds remaining in the contest, Ann Theus of Wilson hit a twleve foot jumpshot, lifting the Presidents over Manor by one, 59-58.

Undaunted by the close loss, the Lady Mustangs proceeded to dump their next three opponents, winning by an average margin of twenty-eight points.

In their next contest Manor bowed to eventual Region Champion Deep Creek. On the upswing following the loss, the Lady Mustangs routed Western Branch, 63-41 and Narcom 66-33

Get that rebound! Manor and Indian River players position themselves to grab the ball if Sherry Davenport's shot misses.
Under pressure. Portia Rawls falls off balance after a Deep Creek player unsuccessfully tries to block her shot.



In the lane. Pam Fisher excutes the fastbreak as she drives to the hoop for two points.
Lighter than air. Sabrina Moody puts up a short jumper in a tough game against the Lady Hornets of Deep Creek.

LADIES WEAVE NET MAGIC CONT'D

Facing stiff opposition in a game with Great Bridge, Manor suffered a heartbreaking overtime loss.

Closing out their regular season, the Lady Mustangs dominated their remaining opponents. After defeating Churchland, 63-58 Manor avenged a one point loss to Wilson, beating Lady Presidents by the identical score, 63-58. The Lady Mustangs ended their most successful season ever by crushing the Lady Tigers of Oscar Smith, 79-46.

Fake out. Center Sabrina Moody draws a foul as she attempts to shoot the ball from under the basket.

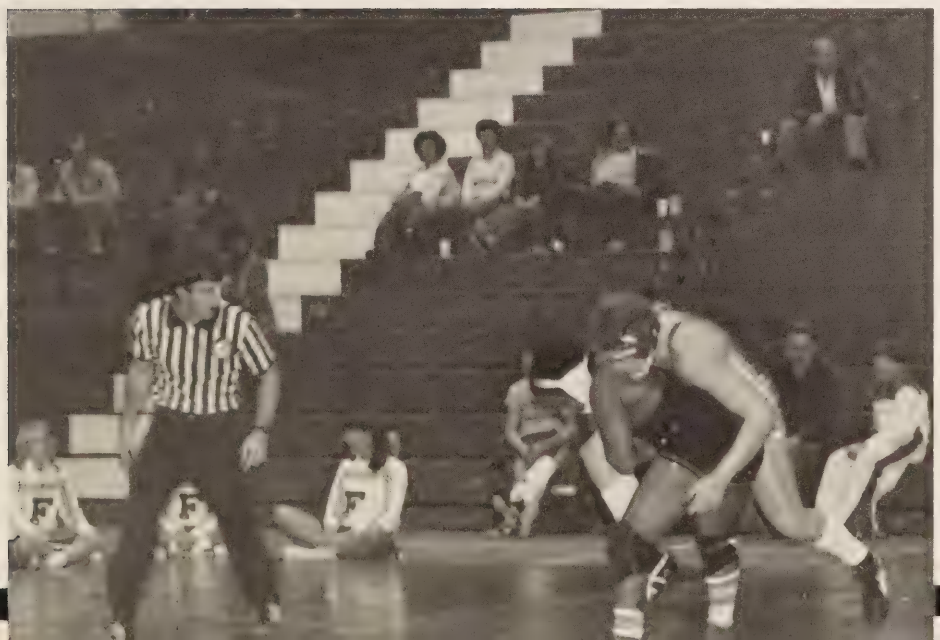
DAWKINS PINS DISTRICT



Consisting mainly of freshman, the 1980-81 Wrestling Team was hampered by inexperience. New faces were seen in almost all of the weight classes.

The team practiced diligently, learning new techniques during after-school training sessions. Drills, weightlifting, running, and weight control were all a part of the weekly routine.

Senior Lawrence Dawkins brought honor to the team as he clinched the 145 pound weight class at the District Tournament held at Manor. Dawkins also took fourth in the regional compeittion and went on to participate in the State Tournament in Northern Virginia. His overall record for the year was an impressive 15-4-1.

Other individual standouts were: Alan Brewer, who placed second in the city and fifth in the District Tournament; and Greg Parker, who took sixth place in the District Tournament.

With a large number of lettermen expected to return next year, the future of Manor's Wrestling program looks bright.

MUSTANGS FINISH AT 4-2

With wins over Cradock, Churchland, Wilson, and Oscar Smith, the Boys' Cross Country Team compiled a 4-2 record and placed second in the Portsmouth City Meet. Their only losses came in meets with Deep Creek and I.C. Norcom.

The team began season preparation in the month of August. The building of stamina needed for the 3.1 mile event was both exhausting and exhilarating. Tracksters practiced an average of two hours a day in preparation of their event. Running, running, and more running is the only way to win a Cross Country meet. Endurance and speed combined enabled Manor to win sixty percent of their meets.

James Baker displayed his skill as he represented Manor at the Regional Cross Country Meet.

The Boys' Cross Country Team consisted of: Co-Captain James Baker, Ellerson Lyons, Carlos Benton, Co-Captain Robert Elliot, Maurice Clifton, and Billy Daye.

Surprising the preseason soothsayers, the defending State Golf Champs kept their winning streak alive minus the services of graduates Joey Walker, Mike Cosgriff, and Charlie Jennings

In practice and early season matches, the Golf Team remained undefeated as they won their first eight matches. Their victories included a win over Beach power Kempsville, and a 310-586 blowout against the Greyhounds of I.C. Norcom.

Although the Golf Team performed well against early season competition, Coach Brown said, "Our success will depend on the consistent play of our golfers in postitions three, four, and five. If they play well, there is a good possibility that we can win in the Regionals."

MOORE CAPTURES DISTRICT TITLE

Clad in warm-up suits and running shoes, the members of the girls Cross Country Team could often be seen racing through the streets of Portsmouth as they conditioned themselves for competition. Running long distances during August and early September helped the girls build up needed endurance.

Finishing up the season with a 3-3 record, the team posted victories over Bayside, Cradock, and Wilson. In the Southeastern District Meet, the Mustangs took third place.

In addition to competing in dual and triangular meets, the Girls Cross Country Team also participated in various invitational meets, including one that was held at William and Mary.

Speedster Verneze Moore captured the Southeastern District Individual Title at the District Meet held on October 24. In the Regionals she took fifth. Verneze was also honored by the School Board for her outstanding achievements.

Busy throughout the summer months, the Varsity Cheerleaders prepared for the up-coming season.

The squad attended the National Cheerleaders Association Camp at the College of William and Mary, July 7-10. There they learned new routines, improved their cheering ability, and made new friends. At the end of the four day session, the Varsity Squad received a rating of "Excellent". In addition to summer practices, the Cheerleaders marketed stationery and raffle tickets. During the school year, squad members sold spirit ribbons, buttons, Homecoming flowers and other items to cover financial needs.

In November, Manor Cheerleaders sponsored a one day cheering workshop that was held at Manor. Cheerleaders from other area schools participated. Pete Alexander and Karen Bucaro, both representatives from the National Cheerleaders Association, directed the session.

Performing in pep-rallies, sporting events and for other special activities, the Varsity Cheerleaders exhibited much school spirit and pride.

Creating spirit at the ill-attended J.V. Football games, the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders had the difficult task of representing their school at the Thursday evening contests. At the Varsity Football games, the Cheerleaders sold programs and cheered back-up to the Varsity Cheerleaders. The J.V. Cheerleaders practiced during the summer along with the Varsity. They also attended the National Cheerleaders Association Camp held at William and Mary.

MANOR POWERHOUSE CONQUERS STATE

A "Powerhouse" - thats the only way to adequately describe the 1980 Manor Golf Team, that swept through the District regular season undefeated and went on to drive home the State AAA Golf Crown.

After one single stroke kept the golf team from competing at the State level last year, Manor had a score to settle. And settle it they did. The RED HOT Mustangs breezed to 9-0 record Southeastern District play setting course records at Stumpy Lake and City Park. They then proceeded to easily with the district Tournament.

At the Regional Tournament, held at Sleepy Hole, the Mustangs were not to be stopped as they carded a 291 en route to a 20 stroke victory over runner-up Princess Anne. Following this victory, the Manor Golf Team set its sights on the State Golf Title.

Practicing on the Kingsmill Golf Course in Williamsburg, May 17-18, the team readied itself for the State Tournament to be held May 19-20.

Shooting a 312 in the first round, the Mustangs led by only three strokes. 312 was the highest score they recorded as a team all year. Coach Brown was not at all worried, "If we can take the lead when we were not at our best, then we should have little trouble in the final round if we play our usual game." But half-way through the final round, the Mustangs were five strokes ahead of their first round mid-point score. Thats when Manor made the move. The team members broke out of their temporary lull and conquered the last nine holes, and giving Manor a total score of 618 and their first State Title. No team came closer than 16 strokes to the Mustangs score.

After the victory, Coach Brown commented, "The team worked hard for this. Manor has never had a Regional Championship before in any sport, much less a State Title. And I' m proud of the team."

Practice makes perfect. Coach Brown prepares to travel to the golf course for another practice session with the team.

ORGANIZATIONS

The many organizations offered at MHS indicate the various interests held by Manor students. From art to business, from chorus to drama to band, clubs provided an outlet for student involvement beyond the classroom.

Manor High clubs and organizations also bruoght honor to our school. The Mighty Marching Mustangs helped to fill a trophy case with the awards of victory

The D.E., I.C.T., and business organizations helped students to prepare for a career as well as to socialize.

The S.G.A. tied our student body together with their many activities.

Honors, awards, and association through interests help make the clubs of MHS important and active organizations.

CLOSING

As The 1981 Mustang draws to its closing pages we the staff have hoped to recapture the excitment and the activities of Manor High.

From these memories we hope to inspire the members of the student body to build on what they have learned; to grow and reach new goals and to climb onward, ever upward.

1981 YEARBOOK STAFF

We started off this year with great expectations. Thirty-six people showed up for our first meeting. That was the way we started . . . . The way we ended was slightly different.

This year culminates the gallant efforts of our Senior Editor in Chief Jean Williamson and Assistant Editor Jennifer Farless. For four years, they have worked dilligently to record the passing history of Manor High School. Without their sacrifice of time, sweat, and tears, this book could never be.

Our Sports Editor, Senior Bryan Hesteralmost singlehandedly completed the record of our fall and winter sports.

We cannot give the entire credit for the '81 Mustang to our three Senior Editors. There are other students who deserve recoginition for sticking it out to the bitter end. These people had the thankless job of drawing layouts, taking pictures, typing copy, making prints, and all of the time consuming "un-fun" aspects of producing the yearbook. Special thanks for their efforts go to: Gary Hudson, Tricia McLaughlin, Jo Ann Smith, Shirley Watkins, Angie Furman, April Hughes, Rhond Fly, Dennis Smith, Phylis Jennings.

To you the student; these students present the 1981 Mustang, a recorded passing of time and efforts. This is your book, compiled and created for your memories.

Senior Editors Jean Williamson and Jenny Farless.

Bryan Hester has a good laugh when asked about completed pages.

Tricia McLaughlin works on completing pages for deadline.

Angie Furman an indespensible typist.

Jo Ann Smith checks pages for completion.

Dennis Smith lends a hand in selecting pictures.

Today, yesterday, tomorrow; from whence we come, where we are, and where we are going. One year ends. The future begins, and the question in most minds is what does it hold.

We have a new President in the White House, an ex-actor, cowboy who promises prosperity and an end to inflation. The Hostages have come home, been acclaimed heroes, and our government promises never again. A unity of purpose encompassed the nation with "Yellow Ribbons" appearing everywhere.

The energy crisis remains with us with gasoline costing $1.50 a gallon and home heating fuel over a dollar a gallon. The major national news is concerning the murder of 22 black children in Atlanta with no clues as to who or why. The nation is wearing green ribbons in sympathy.

The future is unpredictable. We are promised better times but only time will tell.

To this end we send our Seniors, the generation of tomorrow. In them is promise, in them lie our hopes, for they are tomorrow, the leaders and the followers who will plot our destiny.
